

Casamina, Vamizi Island, Mozambique

The Party House of the island – perfect for big groups.

Dubbed the party house, Casamina lends very well to large family groups. Curved walkways surround a large swimming pool which is situated alongside a fantastic communal living room, dining area and fully stocked, fun bar. Thatched roofs, driftwood balconies and coral walls give this house a distinctly beachy feel and, with turquoise interiors and playful fish decorations above the bar, there is no mistaking your paradise island location.

Three of the en suite double/twin rooms are sea-facing with another set back in a 'tree house'. The children's accommodation consists of two separate rooms, each with two sets of bunks, and a shared bathroom. The communal area, a split-level living/dining area and bar, is covered by an impressive thatch roof with open sides offering spectacular views of the ocean and leading to the swimming pool.

There are unobstructed views of the island from the top of the tower. This is the perfect setting for breakfast and there is a games room with TV, books and board games just below. A study room on stilts is nestled behind the master bedroom. The local coral limestone walls have been handcrafted and are a distinctive feature of this beautiful villa along with the spiral stairs leading up to the tree house

With the bar being situated in the centre of the main living area, this is the perfect way to draw guests together for evening drinks. Coming equipped with a private chef and being located on a wide, open beachfront, this is the ideal opportunity for lively beach dinners.
