

Chalet La Bergerie, sleeps 10+1

General Information

La Bergerie is located on the site of an old "Bergerie" or shepherd's hut, dating back to the 17th century. This unique chalet has been renovated using many of the original features blending traditional wood and stone with modern facilities. Decorated with care, there is a prevailing sense of calm and tranquility, helped by its location in a private enclave above Val d'Isere.

La Bergerie boasts four en-suite twin or king size bedrooms, one of which has a small additional single interconnecting bedroom, ideal for a child or nanny and a sixth bedroom with its own private shower room. Every room has an individual sense of style and character which makes them all an equally attractive retreat after an active day.

The vaulted ceiling of the spacious lounge and mezzanine dining room gives a sense of space, without losing the warmth of the room created by the open log fire, and complimented by the rich colours and textures of the carefully selected furnishings. La Bergerie sports additional features such as a state of the art cinema room complete with a Nintendo Wii.
